Further Particulars of the Great Fire in Portland.

PORTLAND, July 7.

The city is crowded with strangers who have come from all quarters to survey the scene of the conflagration.

A number of fatal accidents are reported. The Star which is issued on a slip says:---We hear of a considerable number of fatal accidents. One gentleman informs us that in a house near the origin of the fire, a boy eleven years old, was lying sick in the fourth story. The house was in flames at the bottom, and all efforts to rescue him was unavailing.

The blowing up of buildings did not do any good.

Firemen came on from Boston and relieved our exhausted men.

Mrs. McFadden, who was burnt out on York street, exemplified one of the finest traits in the Irish character. Sitting down on a door step with a little frightened child clinging in terror to her breast, amid falling timbers and the flames she discoursed thus:

"Ah! how I pity some of me poor nabers. An isn't there poor Mrs. O'Donahue with three bits of childers, an' not a place to lay their heads: an' haint I had a fine offered me at the Cape a month ago!"

PORTLAND, July 7.

New York telegraphs that they have subscribed $100,000 for us. Boston Committee came here yesterday afternoon bringing $23,000 in money, and $3000 more contributed in Lynn.

Three car loads of cooked provisions came in the same train. Our authorities have notified neighboring towns that we have plenty of cooked provisions for the present.

The loss by fire is now estimated at $12,000,000.

Many firemen were injured by the heat and smoke.

BOSTON, July 7.

Newburyport has subscribed $10,000 for the relief of the Portland people.

WASHINGTON, July 7.

Owing to the confusion on the floor of the House last night, the amendment to the tariff on fish was not distinctly heard, and was incorrectly given. The section as adopted by the House reads:

On mackerel two dollars per barrel; on herrings, pickled or salted, one dollar per barrel; on salmon, pickled or salted, three dollars per barrel; on shad two dollars per barrel; on all other fish, pickled, two dollars per barrel; on all fish not herein otherwise provided for, one dollar per hundred weight. Provided that all fish in packages other than barrels shall pay in proportion to the rates charged upon similar fishing barrels. On sardines and alchovy fifty per cent ad valorem.

To this Mr Pike of Maine moved to add the following amendment, which Mr. Morrill said that he had no objection to, and which the House adopted:

Provided, further, that herring imported in bulk shall pay at the rate of fifty cents per barrel of two hundred pounds.

Secretary Stanton has authorized the issue of tents from the Quartermaster's Department in sufficient to accommodate 15,000 sufferers by fire in Portland, Maine.

PORTLAND, July 7.

A copious shower fell this morning upon the smouldering ruins of this half destroyed city. Although it served to cool the heated atmosphere, it was unwelcome to the several hundred homeless persons encamped in tents on Munjoy's Hill. The fire is still burning fiercely in some quarters of the destroyed district, but there are no fears of a further destruction of property.

Thieves abound. A military guard is stationed outside the city to intercept all such scoundrels, and no less than thirty of them were arrested last night while taking their plunder away in wagons. The revenue cutter has also intercepted about twenty small vessels which were loaded with goods of various kinds.

Donations in the shape of provisions continue to arrive in large quantities, the greatest supply coming from Boston. What is most needed is bed clothing and wearing apparel. The beds and clothing of many families were totally destroyed, and they are now wandering about with scarcely enough to cover their nakedness. The citizens of Portland have done all in their power to alleviate their sufferings, but their means are utterly inadequate to the demand.

There was a large meeting of citizens and city officials in Mechanic's Hall this morning to take measures for the immediate relief of the sufferers. Mayor Stevens presided, and in his opening remarks said that what was needed was prompt and sufficient action. Suggestions and motions were made by several gentlemen present, when it was finally voted that the Mayor, with such assistance as he might and could select, should be authorized to look out for their comfort.

The Mayor will have the assistance of Gen. Shepley and Capt. Inman, who with a company of veteran soldiers will pitch about a thousand tents during the day and probably arrange for the immediate erection of barracks.

Col. Charles Q. Clapp, who spoke at the meeting, said that they should use every means to keep the houseless population in the city, for if they once left and should not return it would be a severe blow to the revival of business. He favored also an application for relief to the general government.

Gen. Shepley said that they should not apply to the government for charity; but demand the immediate payment of the war debt which is due this city, and he made that motion. They had helped the general government in its hour of trial, and she should be in this great affliction. The motion was opposed by several gentlemen present, when Shepley again spoke in favor of it, but at the conclusion of his speech he left the hall.

To the Editor of the Whig:

My attention was called a few days since to a statement which appeared several weeks ago in the Bangor Times, relative to the National Fair for the orphans of soldiers and sailors, in the District of Columbia. The Maine table was spoken of as a success, "no thanks to the Maine delegation in Congress, and Senator Morrill was alluded to as having opposed the Fair! Knowing as I do, the truth in regard to Senator Morrill's action for the Fair, this seems to me a very ungracious and ungrateful statement, and I desire a place in your columns through which to correct this most inaccountable mistake. In as few words as possible, I will tell you something of the history of the Fair, and you shall judge if Senator Morrill hindered its success.

Certain earnest ladies in the District proposed the Fair, and gave notice that it would open on the 15th of May. Every State was invited to have a table in it. A Maine table was resolved upon by residents from Maine in the District. To the circular sent to Maine for aid, Senator Morrill was one of the first to give his name. Meanwhile the 15th of May had nearly come, and no suitable hall or building was procurable, in which to hold so large an affair. People were coming from a distance, attracted by the occasion. No dismantled hospital could be obtained, and no lumber from the piles laid up by Government from which hospitals had been made. The ladies were told by the War Department that they had no power to loan the timber to build the building "unless Congress would pass an act giving it to them," that, if they could get such an act through Congress, then they should be most happy to assist them," &c. &c. The difficulty of getting anything through Congress in season seemed almost too great to make the effort advisable, but Senator Morrill was consulted, and he told them he thought it could be done, that he would attend to it in the Senate, and Representative Lynch promised for the House, and it was put through in less than two days, very much to the delight of the ladies, and they were warm in their expressions of gratitude to this Maine help.

It would be an amusing and provoking chapter about "red tape," if I should stop to tell you of all the hindrances the ladies met before their building was accomplished: how the Mayor of Washington would not let them use the vacant lot on which it was erected, until every owner of real estate around it had given a written consent, and the third members of the Common Council had been visited and consulted; and how the War Department still had "no power to lend the lumber until bonds had been given that it should be returned uninjured!" (It is said, by the way, that more Government lumber is stolen every week than it took for the building,) how the expense of carting the lumber, the glass, the nails, the labor, etc., etc., were still beyond their power to grant," although "they should be most happy to do if they could:" how the ladies were almost in despair, when Gen. Grant came back to W. and to him they appealed, and "him they found help. "You shall have fifty or five hundred men for your object," and the good everything else was forthcoming; nor did Gen. Grant have to go to Congress for power; and here let me record that the man who took Richmond has done several other good things in Washington, and this is only one of them. Let me record, too, that Secretary Harlan was one of the powers that did not hinder the ladies. He told them that he thought he had the power to give them Judiciary Square, and he would do it; but the ladies had been refused it at the War Department, and they did not dare accept it from Harlan, for, said they, "Where should we be if with our building half erected, there should come down an order from Stanton to cease breaking us all up?" But of all the difficulties surmounted by ladies, who "would would not say die," nor give up the "beat," and which would fill a small volume if fairly told, I will say no more, except as regards the Maine delegation. After the building was up, flags in great numbers were wanted, and the Secretary of the Navy was appealed to. "The Fair was for the benefit of the orphans of sailors as well as soldiers; the soldiers had put up the building, would he, on the part of the Navy, send the flags to decorate it?" A flat negative was the reply. What was to be done? "Some prominent Senator must be asked to solicit the flags." "The Secretary would not refuse a Senator!" appealed to as the most likely to succeed. Tired and hard worked as he was, by labors in committee, he promised to go the next morning just as soon as the Secretary could be seen; and he went, but the Secretary was harder to move than Congress, and the flags were refused to Senator Morrill, and as there was no hope that any one could get them if he could not, the Fair opened without Navy flags.

If you should ask the energetic persevering failing of the liberality to what members of Congress they are especially indebted for aid to the Fair, I am sure they would name Senator Morrill first of all, although several others would come in for a share of gratitude, and among them Mr. Lynch, one of the Maine Representatives.

It is from personal knowledge that I give you these facts, and I only regret that the erroneous statement was not sooner corrected.

H. C. I.

THE INFAMOUS COOLIE TRADE. This is but the slave trade under another name, and is and should be equally condemned by the civilized world. The Alta California of San Francisco exposes some of its atrocities, deriving its information from a man who was employed in it, but has now abandoned it. It appears that the vessels engaged in the Coolie trade are mainly of American construction, but as the American flag is not allowed to cover such a trade, the capitalists engaged in the business are compelled to buy the vessels and transfer them to other flags. These vessels are often purchased in the port of San Francisco, and fitted out there for trips to and from the Chinese coast. The business is mainly in the hands of a large company, organized under the laws of Peru, and known by the corporate name of "Compania Maritima del Peru." The members of the company are all natives of the south of Europe, no American or Englishman finding considered in it as a stockholder, and no American had only one Englishman being employed by it in any capacity. The company owns at this time five fine ships, which have been transferred from the American to the Peruvian flag. The breaking out of hostilities between Spain and Peru has necessitated another change, and for safety from Spanish cruisers the vessels have now been transferred to the protection of the Portuguese flag, which they now carry.

The laws of China are severe against the exportation of coolies, as such, and there is but a single Asiatic port at which vessels can openly load with human chattels for foreign markets. That port is Macao, which belongs to Portugal. The coolies are obtained in Shanghai and Canton, widely separated points, half of each shipment, as nearly as possible, being taken from each port, for reasons which will be seen presently. Coolies cannot be induced, as they could in former years, to voluntarily embark for foreign countries under contract for labor for a term of years, but must be obtained by fraud. The object is accomplished through the Chinaman's besetting and unconquerable weakness, the love of gambling.

This, we are told, is the usual method of obtaining "volunteers" for coolie emigration; but sometimes other dodges are resorted to. For instance: A Spanish renegade, who was known in San Francisco under the name of Manuel, in 1854, used to run down with an armed lorcha alongside the Chinese fishing boats which frequent the coast---always working two together to prevent accidents and resist attack---and call the fishermen on board on pretence of buying fish. Once on board John was overpowered and tied, and the remainder of the crew in the boat quickly overpowered. The boats were then scuttled and sunk, and their disappearance was credited to the "pirates," which are said to abound on this coast. In this manner a cargo could soon be gathered.

Sometimes a vessel is seized by the coolies, and the crew massacred or compelled to land them at some point on the coast, but in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, the plot is exposed by one faction of the other, in season to prevent such a catastrophe. Only a small portion of the coolies are allowed on deck at a time, and if a rising is attempted a judicious discharge of musketry down the partially opened hatchways soon quells it, and "order reigns in Warsaw."

The vessel heads for Havana, Callao, or the Chinchas, and, on her arrival, from four-fifths to nine-tenths of the cargo is in a marketable condition, the remainder having gone to the bottom of the sea, through the ravages of disease contracted in the confined hold, or suicide. The vessel now in port, to which we have alluded, on her last trip landed six hundred and four out of the six hundred and fifty-nine with which she cleared at Macao, and her owners cleared $85,000 on the single trip, after paying all expenses; so says Capt. Garlett. The coolies are worth $350 per head on an average, and are soon disposed of to owners of sugar plantations in the miasmatic districts of the coast, or others, at that rate.

WASHINGTON, July 6.

The conference committee's report on the Tax bill was agreed to by both houses of Congress, and the bill will go to the President as soon as it can be engrossed. The debate on the report was continued mainly to the cotton question. In the House, there was no debate on this subject. There was, however, very strenuous opposition on the part of Eggleston, Schenck, and one or two others to the agreement of the committee with reference to the tax on gas companies and street railways, and on the part of Mr. Stevens and others to the clause giving assessors the right to decide questions of fraud. None of these gentlemen succeeded in convincing the House that it was expedient to reject the report, and it was adopted but by only four majority. Its chief points were stated last night, though the language then used seems calculated to convey a wrong impression in regard to the tax on higher grades of cigars, which should be as follows: On cigars, cheroots, and cigarettes, valued at over $12 per thousand, a tax of $4 per thousand, and in addition, 20 per cent. ad valorem on the marked value thereof. Other notable points of the report are as follows: State banks converted into national banks, having ceased to do business as banks, shall pay an additional duty of ½ of 1 per cent. per month on the average amount of outstanding State circulation. The 10 and 25 cents stamp tax on weighers', gaugers', and measurers returns, and on warehouse receipts imposed under the existing law is abolished, and a uniform stamp duty of 25 cents fixed on all receipts exceeding $2. The graduated scale of duties on playing cards is also abolished, and a uniform stamp duty of 6 cents per pack substituted. Wine, mead, india rubber springs for railroad cars, iron, rats, and sewer pipes, clay retorts, nitre and saltpetre, remain on the free list, and telescopes and telescopic mountings were added to it in conference.---[Sp. to Boston Advertiser.

The object of this call from the National Union (Johnson) Club is obviously to rally all the elements that can be gathered throughout the land and thus would yield any available support to President Johnson; in other words, to take the initiative of forming a new Johnson party, by marrying the Democratic party North and South to those of the great Union or Republican party who can be seduced from their allegiance.---[The Right Way.

THE INSURANCES. The Journal's reporter says:---

The losses will be distributed among about one hundred companies, but the heaviest losers will probably be the following: Metropolitan of New York, City of Hartford, Home of New York, Phœnix, Etna, Lorillard, Springfield Mutual, Dirigo

It is stated, with how much truth we know not, that the Metropolitan, which has been pushed hard in this section, is involved to the amount of one and a half millions, while its entire capital is less. It is thought the Dirigo is heavily involved.

All disguise is now thrown off, and the Randall Rollers' Convention is to be made respectable in the numbers represented by a general attendance of the late supporters for President of George B. McClellan and those of Jefferson Davis. The States recently in revolt are to be fully represented---that is, their ex-rebels are to be; if their loyalists were to send delegates they would not be admitted. And the entire Sham Democracy is going in, as the Washington Address clearly indicates.

Mr. Webster said in '48 that, if the Whig party were to go over to the Free Soil, it would be the Whig party still---only with Martin Van Buren at the head of it. That which Randall's call will gather at Philadelphia will be simply the old slavery-championing, negro-crushing Sham Democracy, with a very few renegade Republicans serving as decoys. "Down with the Nigger! up with the Rebels!" will be its war-cry. If any one walks into the trap who does not belong there, he cannot reasonably claim that it was adroitly set. The wayfaring man, if not a fool, may keep out of it.---[Tribune.

The Great Fire.

The Press of Saturday did not reach us, but we have The Star of Friday evening on a four column slip, and The Argus of Saturday on a half sheet.

The Star says:

It is almost too much for the mind to grasp, and too fresh an occurrence to talk considerately about; yet we can but counsel hopefulness and patience to this people. To the brave and true all things are possible.—This town has lost twelve millions of dollars—many put it higher—at the lowest figure; but we have still got our wharves and harbor and land. Many times a clean sheet is better than a blotted page. We can still supply our own trade, and keep that which we had growing with the East. Commercial street is all untouched, and there stores are manned by men who have brains and pluck. Everyone of these can and will redouble effort.

All jealousy, if it ever existed, is gone, and we go into the new conflict of our history as the Highlanders went upon the Plateau, all our elbows touching.

We have been tried as a people never were tried before, but hands have not been palsied nor hearts dismayed. Indeed we never know of what stuff we are made until we stand in the presence of such calamity. We do not even believe that much of our insurance will be lost. At glance at it shows the distribution to have been most fortunate.

Let us assert all the manhood of our united strength and though we may be cast down we cannot be destroyed.

The Argus says:

The suffering of those thus turned out of doors is increased by the fact that for a long time houses have not been proportion with the population of the city, and hundreds of families cannot by any possibility be sheltered. Nearly all the provision stores were destroyed, and this renders it very difficult to procure the necessaries of life, so that it is absolutely necessary that they should be sent from other places. Thousands of persons, male and female, are thrown out of employment, many of whom lost their tools, and it is feared that in many instances their employers have lost all their property, and may not be able to pay them what may have been due them.

The City Government of Portland held a meeting on Friday for deliberation and consultation. Charles O. Clapp, Esq., made remarks at length. He stated that the loss of the city by the fire would, in his opinion, aggregate fifteen millions of dollars.

He argued that as the population of a city must depend upon its wealth, the population of Portland must be reduced by 15,000 souls, by this disaster. The only remedy he could suggest was aid from the General Government, and he thought that the city should ask for aid of Government to rebuild the city, giving the government mortgages of the lands, &c., for security.

There was considerable discussion of these topics by gentlemen present. It was generally believed that the loss is higher than ten millions.

During the twenty-four hours in which the fiery element held the city in its grasp, many incidents of thrilling nature transpired. Persons who had retired to bed with no apprehension that the conflagration would reach their dwellings, were suddenly aroused by the alarm, that the fire was upon them, and hardly time to escape from their invaded homes with but scanty apparel, abandoning all their household goods to the flames. Others, after watching the progress of the destruction at points remote from their homes, returned to find that their own houses had been fired by cinders during their absence, and were already past saving. One individual, after witnessing the destruction of his store, thanked God that he yet had a place of shelter, and retiring to his home, was subsequently compelled to flee from his own domicil for his life. There were also some singular exemptions. In one instance a person saved his store and his house, while every building standing upon a wide space between the two was destroyed.

The flouring mill of Mr. Upham, formerly of this city, lost $30,000 and was insured for only $5000, as we see by the reports.

The only standing building visible for a space of a mile and a quarter ahead, and a breadth of half a mile, is the Custom House and Post Office, and this is completely ruined.

There is, however, a small margin of cheap wooden dwellings spared on what is known as the "Back Cove." The jail was saved, although it was several times threatened with destruction, and the liberation of confined inmates was seriously entertained. Several of the bank vaults have been forced open this evening and the contents found to be safe. The books were not even scorched, although the iron doors were heated almost red for a space of nearly an hour.

There is already a strife among some of the business men as to who shall have the honor of first rebuilding and engaging in business. In some streets men were engaged to-day in clearing away the ruins. The first part of the city likely to be rebuilt is Middle street.

Mr. Brown, of the sugar house, will set several hundred men to work clearing away the ruins of his place to-day, and the great manufactory will probably be rebuilt and in operation inside of a year. The plans for a new Catholic church in place of the one destroyed were drawn to-day, and the work of rebuilding will be commenced immediately.

The fears that the insurance on most of the losses will not be paid have been partially removed. The officers of some of the companies have assured the sufferers that every liability will be promptly met, even if the companies go down. The Dirigo Company of this city had $400,000 at risk, it is stated, to this amount of some $300,000. In some of the terrible conflagration no one branch of business has been more completely wiped out than that of the wholesale boot, shoe and leather trade. Every house in the city dealing in these articles was destroyed, together with nearly all the stock in each.

The Fire King seems to have held high carnival on the 4th. Besides the terrible conflagration at Portland we have accounts of fires in New York with a loss of a quarter of a million; at Lockport, in Brooklyn, loss (est.) $50,000 to $80,000; in Lawrenceburg, Ind., loss $60,000; in Newport, Ky., loss $10,000; in Utica, N. Y., loss $200,000; in New Orleans, loss $800,000; in Cherry Valley, N. Y., loss heavy; besides others of small amount.

From the Star of Saturday.

MEETING OF THE UNDERWRITERS. At eight o'clock last evening the representatives of most of the Insurance Offices in New York and New England met in the large parlor of the Preble House, to confer together as to the extraordinary demands upon them, by reason of the great fire in this city.

Resolved, That the representatives of the companies here present, speaking for themselves and for other foreign companies here by express their readiness and ability to pay promptly all their losses by the recent disastrous fire in this city.

Resolved, That as the rates of insurance for some time past have been entirely inadequate to the risk assumed, the local agents of the companies represented in the city of Portland be instructed to form immediately a Board of Underwriters to adopt a tariff of rates to be approved by a committee of five chosen from the companies here represented, and that agents strictly adhere to said tariff until such tariff be adopted, an advance of at least 50 per cent be charged upon all risks, and that no merchandise risk be taken at less than 70 cents.

Resolved, that the Underwriters here representing the insurance capital of the country, in view of the continued destruction of property by the use of fire crackers, recommend to their respective companies to take immediate measures to procure the passage of a law against the use of them under any and all circumstances where they issue policies.

Several gentlemen discussed the second resolution somewhat, and asked as to rates of other cities.

Mr. John H. Brown asked that nothing be done at this time which could prejudice the interests of merchants in this matter. He believed that rates have been too low, but was afraid that so much advance might harm us.

Messrs. Glover and Rankin, as also several other gentlemen, gave New York and Boston rates, and shhow that what they recommended for Portland was not excessive.

A COLLOQUY ABOUT SLAVERY AND THE "DEMOCRACY."

In the Senate on Monday last the order of the day was the act to amend the organic acts of the Territories of Montana, Idaho, Arizona, New Mexico and Utah, so as to provide for universal suffrage.

Mr. Saulsbury declared that had the Northern people known that slavery was to be abolished, they would never have supported the war. What, he asked, did Northern people know about negroes? Where did they learn about them? From Uncle Tom's Cabin, written by a strong-minded woman to draw tears from weak-minded men, or from those Northern editors who stayed at home, not to keep quiet, but to incite John Brown raids! There never was a greater humbug in the world than this doctrine of equality. There was no such thing. The God of nature never intended it. He believed that the Eternal God never intended that they should be equal, and in this He had his own wise purposes to subserve. We could not doubt it when viewing His works.

Mr. Stewart said he had been much struck with some of the remarks of the Senator from Delaware. The Senator said that the Northern people would not have supported the war with so much enthusiasm had they known slavery was to be abolished. He would ask the Senator if he thought Jeff Davis would have gone into the war with so much alacrity had he thought he would be crippled? Mr. S. said, although the people might not have contemplated all that had occurred, he thought the Union party had every reason to be satisfied with the result, particularly with the abolition of slavery. If the Democratic party was satisfied with the record they had made, with their attempts to destroy the government and the well known fact that they would now re-enact slavery if they had the power, the Union party certainly had no reason to be ashamed of theirs.

Mr. Saulsbury said the Senator was a new convert, and before long would be as far advanced as the rest of them. Although the Senator was now loud in denunciation of the Democratic party, he was a Breckenridge Democrat. He would like to know when the Senator left the party.

Mr. Stewart said he left it when the Democratic party was plotting treason, when Buchanan & Co. were surrendering the country, and Jeff Davis & Co. were stealing it. He left for the Union party, and that great party then sprang up and it would last until every man in this country was possessed of equal rights.

—Gen. Case left property to the amount of a million dollars, which was gotten by the rise in value of real estate in the heart of Detroit.

An Invaluable Spring Medicine.

DR. J. W. POLAND'S

HUMOR DOCTOR

This excellent medicinal remedy was first prepared by Dr. P. in 1847, and was then employed with great success in expelling humors from the blood; but in 1865, a medical friend, who was quite celebrated as a physician, especially in the treatment of humors, suggested some important improvements, which were adopted, and which have made it (so the people say) the very best remedy for all kinds of humors known to "the faculty." This preparation is composed wholly of vegetables, among which are Sarsaparilla, Yellow Dock, Burdock, Noble Pine, Mandrake, Senna and Bloodroot. Suffice it to say the "Doctor" is used in hundreds of families as a general medicine. Unlike many other popular remedies, it is very grateful to the taste.

Later from Europe.

The War on the Continent.

Great Battle between the Italians and Austrians.

The Battle Lasted all Day.

The Italians are Defeated and Re-Cross the Mincio.

THE AUSTRIANS TAKE 2000 PRISONERS.

Garibaldi will March Direct for Munich.

The Hanoverian Army Completely Surrounded by the Prussians.

Later from Mexico.

NEW YORK, July 8.

Steamship Saxonia, from Southampton on the 27th ult., arrived at this port at 9 o'cl'k this evening.

The laying of the Atlantic Cable would commence on the 30th.

THE GERMAN WAR.

The Italian army crossed the Mincio without meeting any opposition from the Austrians; it then pushed towards Peripura, but was repulsed by a short cannonade from the forts and stronghold s

The Italian army was encountered by the Austrians, in great force, in the vicinity of Verona. A great battle commenced. The Austrians repulsed both wings of the Italian army. The fight was still going on.

The reported relief of the Hanoverian army is not confirmed.

Negotiations for capitulation on honorable terms had been agreed upon between the commanders of the Hanoverian and Prussian forces.

The Prussians had advanced into upper Silesia and Bonemia. They easily repulsed the Austrian hussars, owing to the effective power of the needle-gun.

Prince Charles' army met with no resistance in crossing the Bohemian frontier.

It is expected that Gen. Benedek will debouch from Bohemia with the main body of his army upon Garlitz, compelling the Prussians to evacuate Saxony by a flank attack. The Prussians are arming Coblentz and Shrenlustein against the Southern Germans.

Sunday's engagement between the Austrians and Italians near Verona, lasted all day, and ended in the complete defeat of the Italians, who were commanded by the King. Both armies fought most bravely. The Italians were repulsed at all points, after a severe and bloody struggle. The Italians recrossed the Mincio on Sunday evening.

The Austrians captured 2000 prisoners.—They then took Curtozza by assault. The Austrians occupied Bormis in Lomburdy.

Nothing is known of Benedek's movements.

The Prussians attacked Astivienin in Galacia, but were beaten off with loss, by the Austrians.

The Hanoverian army had escaped thro the Prussian corps and reached Meininger

Prussia will not blockade the Hanoverian ports, nor seize private property.

Garibaldi intends marching through Tyrol direct to Munich.

A later telegram positively asserts that the Hanoverian army is still completely surrounded. The King of Hanover demanded twenty-four hours for deliberation on the conditions upon which his army is to capitulate. The demand has been granted. The King expects to receive assistance from the Bavarian army.

NEW YORK, July 8.

The London Times of the 27th contains several despatches.

A Leipsic despatch of the 26th states that a Prussian army corps had arrived, destined to operate against Bavaria.

A Florence despatch of the 26th says the papers there assert that the want of success in the first battle is but a new motive for redoubled energy and perseverance. The country has full confidence in the army, and the war against Austria will be continued until the complete liberation of Venetia has been accomplished.

An official despatch dated Brescia, evening of the 25th, says:

To-day, in an engagement between the Italian volunteers and the Austrians, between the bridge of Coffaro and Londzone, the latter were repulsed, leaving several killed and wounded.

A Paris despatch of the 26th says:

A Madrid telegram announces a proclamation from O'Donnell, expressing his determination to vigorously repress all disturbances.

A letter from Madrid states that 1750 prisoners were taken during the revolt, 187 of whom had been shot. The total number killed was 1000.

A Carlsrupa despatch of the 26th ult says:

The Baden Minister at Berlin has been recalled.

The Grand Duke will rejoin his forces to the Federal army.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.

Figures received from Chinese sources give a total Chinese population in California as numbering 58,300 persons, one fourth of whom are employed on the Pacific railroad.

Advices are received that the French ship Rhine went ashore near Guaymas, and it is believed that she would prove a total loss.

A despatch from Portland, Oregon, yesterday says $29,000 in treasure had arrived there.

Australian news reports a severe drought in Sidney and Queensland.

WASHINGTON, July 7.

The Secretary of Treasury has issued an order that before admitting to entry any importations under provisions of act to protect American citizens engaged in lumbering on the St. Croix river, Maine customs officers will require the presentation of a manifest, accompanied by necessary oaths.

Gen. Fiske, Assistant Commissioner of Freedmen's Bureau in Tennessee, says he has closed full one-third (?) of the business of the bureau in that State, and intends to cease the issue of rations except in most urgent cases of necessity.

U. S. Treasurer Spinner in a communication to the cashier of the National Bank of Kingston, N. Y., says it has not hitherto been supposed any bank would claim to be allowed to direct from its deposits the amount of its over drafts in the sums due from other banks virtually over drafts, concluding as follows:

The $20,000 mentioned by you as received from the Metropolitan Banks as a call loan, credited to said bank, is a deposit upon which they should be paid even though the amount has been left by you with the same bank subject to your draft.

The deduction is an offset of a like amount due from said bank, would not be proper.—The check received by you from the Albany Bank and forwarded to the Saugerties bank for collection, having been credited by you to the Albany bank, must be returned by you as a deposit, so long as it may remain with you, and it would not be proper to enter as an offset to this deposit the amount you have charged to the Saugerties Bank on account of said collection.

NEW YORK, July 8.

A fatal case of cholera was reported in the city last evening, also one in Brooklyn. Advices from St. Domingo to the 23d ult. state that the Liberal policy of the former administration towards foreign enterprizes is to be continued quiet, except at Seybo, where Guillermot one of Baez's Guards, headed a rebellion, which it was expected would be speedily quelled.

Special despatch from Montreal say the 17th regiment have relieved the 47th at Toronto. The latter is to go to Halifax.

NEW YORK, July 8.

The heat yesterday was intense, the thermometer ranging from 79 to 98.

There were 20 cases of sunstroke in this city and Brooklyn, few of which was fatal.

Over $22,100 were collected yesterday for Portland sufferers.

The citizens of Brooklyn appointed a committee to receive subscriptions, and authorized the Mayor of Portland to draw on the Mayor of Brooklyn for $10,000.

PORTLAND, July 8.

There was an alarm of fire this afternoon in Munk's square about four o'clock, which destroyed but little property considerably, but it amounted to nothing.

A thunder shower passed over this city but five o'clock. The lightning struck the State Street Church spire, setting it on fire. It was speedily extinguished.

The city is now perfectly quiet. A company of marines from Portsmouth, N. H., under command of Lt. Col. Jones are encamped in State street.

A citizen was severely wounded by a soldier during the fire in the church for attempting to break through the lines. The affair was explained.

Special reports have stated that a steam fire engine was burned in the engine house. The engine in question was out of repair and unfit for use and which the city had voted to sell. The old Cataract engine which came from London, and has been in the department since 1802 was also burned. It was preserved by a relic, but the firemen were too busy to secure it safely.

BALTIMORE, July 8.

A subscription list for the Portland sufferers will be opened here to-morrow.

The Fenians to-day has been excessive.

FORTRESS MONROE, July 6.

A Marine Gilby was seriously injured and a negro killed at Norfolk on the 4th by the explosion of a shell.

NEW ORLEANS, July 8.

The Odd Fellows have resolved to rebuild their Hall in grand style.

Judge Howe has issued a proclamation calling to order the convention of 1864.

Bagdad letters say the Imperial troops were driven off by French men of war. The French threw their side arms at Bagdad.

The Imperials were occupying Matamoras, and pursuing a secret train to Monterey.

There were great expectation of a renewal of trade with southern Mexico, as the whole country was opened.

WASHINGTON, July 8.

Letters received here from Vera Cruz, under date of June 25th, written by a well informed commercial house state that many believe the French expedition will not be withdrawn as announced, for the reason that Gen Bazaine, who is protecting certain commercial houses who are importing goods in his name without payment of duties, he being interested therein, is using all his influence to delay the departure of the troops. It appears certain, however, that arrangements have been made with the Trans-Atlantic Company for the transportation of the forces, and that the first steamer for that purpose is shortly expected.

The late measures of the Imperial government are extremely severe upon the commerce of Vera Cruz, which now has to bear the burden of all the imports, and but little commerce is carried on at any other place.—Unless some change soon takes place the commerce there will be entirely ruined, for it is impossible to bear the additional charges that are constantly being imposed. The latest tax is in the shape of a license, which obliges each commercial house to pay from one to three thousand dollars per annum for the privilege of doing business.

NEW YORK, July 7.

The steamer Santiago de Cuba from Greytown, with the California passengers of June 15th, has arrived.

FORTRESS MONROE, July 7.

Burton Harrison, formerly private secretary, and Geo. W. Brown, one of the counsel of Jeff. Davis, arrived here this forenoon. They spent the day with Davis and family. The visit is supposed to be merely of a friendly nature. They left to-night for Baltimore.

Many friends of Jeff are visiting him daily, going and coming unobstructedly. This precludes the idea of any significance being attached to them.

AUGUSTA, Ga., July 7.

A writ of habeas corpus has been served on Gen Sickles by the U. S. District Court at Charleston, requiring him to produce the bodies of Francis G. Strawers and others, under sentence of death at Castle Pinckney. Gen Sickles refused to comply on the ground that the prisoners were convicted by court martial of cold murder of three Federal soldiers, and that the privilege of writ are still suspended in South Carolina.

Judge Bryer ordered an attachment to be issued against Gen. Sickles for contempt of Court. It is made returnable on Tuesday.

Gov. Orr has issued an address to the people of South Carolina, in which he heartily approves the object of the proposed Philadelphia Convention, and urges the election of delegates to a State convention at Columbia, on the 1st of August, to appoint delegates.

The Governor says:

"There is not one principle of the address to which South Carolina cannot subscribe in honor and with sincerity."

Eighty-nine thousand and eighteen bales of cotton were exported from Savannah to European ports during the year ending June 30th.

WORCESTER, July 7.

At a meeting of some of our prominent citizens yesterday large subscriptions were made to aid the people of Portland. Agencies at various points will undoubtedly be made here.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 8.

Upwards of $6,000 were subscribed here yesterday for the Portland sufferers. Collections were taken in the churches to-day for the same object.

GALVESTON, Texas, July 7.

The Union ticket has been elected along the Rio Grande by two-thirds of the vote thrown.

—Seven head of cattle were recently killed by lightning in Sebec, as we learn from the Observer. They belonged to Messrs. A. & G. B. Moore. A number were also killed in Bowerbank. The barn of Isaac Phillips in Monson, was struck and two pigs killed.

Boston Board of Trade have just sent word that they have got $17,000 ready for Portland. The Mayor is in receipt of offers of aid all the way from Boston to St. Louis.

P. S. Bangor sends greeting and a splendid offer of money.—[Star, Saturday.

—The hardware store of Messrs. Pond & Smith at Augusta, was considerably injured by fire and water on the Fourth.

—Jeff. Davis and wife are living comfortably in a handsomely fitted casemate at Fortress Monroe. All the luxuries of the season are furnished Davis by his friends, and his health is improving.

—One reporter gave the following incident of the Portland fire, but later accounts say that no lives were lost:

A woman left her child asleep in North street, a mile from the fire and went out to see the conflagration. The gale carried the cinders a mile, set her house on fire and burned her child.

—The Augusta correspondent of the Boston Journal says an adverse report of the board which examined the site near Portland for a fresh water basin for government iron-clads has aroused public attention on the Kennebec to the waters of Merrymeeting bay in that river as a place highly adapted as a basin for the reception of such vessels. The bay is also the outlet of the Androscoggin river.

"Public attention is aroused" in this quarter to some of the beautiful locations in the Penobscot river, above Fort Knox

—The Lewiston Journal says that W. A. Blossom, Esq., of Auburn, U. S. Inspector and Deputy Collector, has lately seized a hundred or more barrels and casks of liquor all for non payment of duties. The liquors were mostly seized near the Forks near the Canada border, where they were being smuggled into the United States. The duties alone on the liquors aggregate $4,000 in gold.

THE CELEBRATION AT DOVER. We have received a report of the celebration of the Fourth at Dover, Piscataquis County, but the pressure of other matter will prevent its publication. The new and excellent Trotting Park of the Piscataquis Central Association was successfully inaugurated by several exhibited contests. The Hoyt colt, entered by J. B. Chase won two races in 2:58 and 2:59. The Weymouth mare, entered by Mr. Taylor took the second prizes.

For the sweepstakes four horses were entered—"Dashaway," by Mr. O. M. Shaw of Bangor; "Mountain Maid," by Mr. Estes of Bangor; "White Jack," by Mr. Dexter of Pittsfield; and "Titcomb," by Titcomb of Belgrade.

The first was a dead heat between Dashaway and White Jack. Time, 3 minutes. It was said that Dashaway could have done it in 2,50. The race being against time, the "Titcomb" was then sent off and made the mile in 2:37. The purse was then trotted off between Titcomb and White Jack. The former made his second heat in 2:28, and third in 2:36. The other horse went in 2:58. Titcomb was the favorite from the commencement.

The Address of the Day was delivered by A. G. Lebroke, Esq., and was listened to with great interest and approbation by a large audience.

There was excellent music by the Dexter Brass Band, and fire-works in the evening.

—The Portland Press of Wednesday says that while Mayor Frye of Lewiston, was paying Mr. Johnson for the new steamer to Lewiston, at the Preble House in Portland, Tuesday evening, the gas suddenly went out, and the two gentlemen stepped into the office for a lamp, the former leaving his pocket book on the table. They returned almost immediately, but the pocket book was gone. There was no person in the parlor with them, but there were several on the balcony. The Press puts the amount in the pocket book at a large sum, but the Journal learns from Mayor Frye that he had only a very small amount of money it, and some papers of no value to any one except himself.

—The Bath Times says that the oldest resident of that city, Mr. Cushing Alden, died on Friday, at the age of 97. He died in his chair, without a struggle.

—The Augusta correspondent of the Boston Herald says:—"The Portland and Kennebec Railroad Company have begun operations for the building of their new depot on Market Square, workmen being employed in preparing the foundation. This corporation is also making great improvements on their road, making it a first class one in every respect. Over forty thousand new sleepers will be laid this season, together with several miles of rails from the Portland Rolling Mills, the first instalment which has just been delivered. The company directors have, we are told, under consideration the running of a dummy car between Portland and Yarmouth."

—The republic of Liberia has reclaimed more than 500 miles of the west coast of Africa from the hands of the infamous slave-trader to the pursuits of agriculture and commerce. It has brought under its control 200,000 of the natives, besides 6,000 captured from slave-ships. More than 150 churches, having 20,000 members, have been erected, and about 200 schools are in operation, where 20,000 children have been taught in English. There are between 60 and 70 settlements, and the commerce annually amounts to between fifteen and twenty millions of dollars.

—The number of rebel privateers during the late war was 25. These captured 283 American vessels, destroying 285. The captured vessels were valued at $25,000,000; those destroyed at $20,000,000.

—A Washington dispatch states that the reduction of the public debt since June 30, will reach $100,000,000.

HON. JAMES ARNOLD'S NEW CHARITY.—The gift of $10,000 by Hon. James Arnold to found an association for the relief of aged women, conditioned on the raising of an equal amount by subscription, will be realized. Five gentlemen have given $1000 each, and the balance is almost made up.—[New Bedford Standard.

—General Grant is of the opinion that there should be at least one full regiment of cavalry in each Southern State in order to prevent outrages, and to give proper attention to loyal citizens, white and black.

—The inventor of a street toy known as the "return ball," realized $100,000 from its sales in 1865. He will probably keep that ball in motion.

—The tornado which visited Tobique was very severe. We learn that four buildings were blown down and several persons severely injured. There was also a heavy hail storm.—Houlton Times.

—In a letter to the Dover Observer from Shreveport, La., we find the following:

Passing through a grave yard near the U. S. Arsenal at Baton Rouge, La., I noticed the graves of several Maine soldiers and among them the following formerly of Co. I, 22d Maine Regiment, raised in Piscataquis, viz.:—

—The Rockland Democrat says:

As the fruits of the recent revival at Camden Village about seventy-five persons have been added to the respective churches there; thirty-five of whom were added to the Baptist Church, under the pastorate of Rev. Nathaniel Butler.

The fire in Portland is, with the exception of the great fire in New York, the most terrible and disastrous conflagration that ever occured in the United States; and the great fire in New York was as nothing to it comparing the wealth and population of the two cities. It was stated at the time of the New York fire that since the conflagration of Moscow no calamity by fire so extensive and so terrible had befallen any city. It broke out about 9 o'clock in the evening on the 16th of December, 1835, and such was the intensity of the cold that the water froze on the old hand engines, and the firemen were benumbed. It swept from Merchant street, where it originated, through the business portion of the city, destroying seventeen blocks of the largest and most costly buildings, with their valuable contents, and two hundred buildings of all descriptions were entirely destroyed. The loss was estimated at seventeen millions of dollars.

In Portland from 2000 to 2500 buildings of all descriptions were burned, and the loss is put at $12,000,000 to $15,000,000.

American politics, says the Traveller, present rather a strange picture at this time, when the work of party convention is on the eve of being renewed, because of the near approach of the Congressional elections. Most of which will take place during the next four months, while the remainder will be held early in the spring of 1867. The Republican party alone has a definite purpose and a compact organization. The Johnsonian movement has had but little effect on the serried phalanges which re-elected Mr. Lincoln in 1864. We have seen in the Connecticut the extent to which the Johnson party is able to act. In Connecticut under circumstances more favorable to its purpose than exist in any other Northern State, the Johnson party failed to break down the Republican party. The union between the Johnsonians and the democrats was there made complete, but it was not strong enough to effect the purpose for which it was formed. The Republican popular majority, seldom large, was considerably reduced; but the Republicans carried the Legislature by a decisive majority; and the Legislature has pronounced against Mr. Johnson's "policy". In no other State can there be such a coalition of the opposition formed as we saw effected in Connecticut.

POLITICAL. The Harrisburg (Penn.) Telegraph wants Ben. Wade chosen President of the Senate and Vice President of the United States on the retirement of Mr. Foster from the Senate.

The Union papers are predicting large majorities for their State tickets in Ohio. The Cincinnati Commercial claims 40,000 majority; the Cleveland papers 60,000, and the Toledo Blade, not to be outdone, says

With this platform there is no reason why the ticket nominated should not be elected by a majority of 60,000, and eighteen sound Unionists sent to the Fortieth Congress. It can be done. The party is united, and we fully appreciate the magnitude of the interests involved, and the necessity of serious action.

Mr. Seward's compliments to the Democratic party in his Fourth of July letter are reciprocated by the New York World. It says:

We beg to assure him that his fulsome and ill-Nancyish praise is appreciated at its true value. Democrats have seen too many specimens of his lacquered ware to mistake it even for gilt, much less for gold. They remember not only the last Albany speech, for which they were abused, but the one preceding the last, in which certain other parties were praised and they regard his abuse and his praise as equally hollow. They would as soon be the objects of the one as of the other; his fulsome praise being as nauseous as his unjust abuse is offensive."

WILL THE TARIFF BILL BE PASSED? The prospects of the bill are not improved to-day, and some think it cannot be passed by the House. Others are of the opinion that the House will pass the bill, but that the Senate will vote to postpone its consideration until December. Should the Pennsylvania recede from their extravagant demands, it will aid the bill.—[Sp. to Boston Jour.

A DAUGHTER OF PROF. STOWE SHOT.—Miss Eliza, eldest daughter of Professor and Harriet Beecher Stowe, was on the way through the street when a ball from a pistol discharged from a group of boys near by passed through her right arm. It passed between the two bones of the forearm, half way between the hand and elbow, severing a nerve in the passage. Yesterday morning her right side was paralyzed from the effect of the wound.

Whig & Courier

The Old Folks Alone.

An old wife sat by the bright fireside,
Swaying thoughtfully to and fro,
In an ancient chair whose creaky straw
Told a tale of long ago;
While down by her side on the kitchen floor,
Stood a basket of worsted balls, in store.

The good man dozed o'er the latest news,
Till the fire of his pipe went out;
And unheeded, the kitten, with cunning paw,
Rolled and tangled the balls about:
Yet still the wife in the ancient chair,
Swayed to and fro in the firelight glare.

But anon a misty tear-drop came
In her eye of faded blue,
Then trickled down in a furrow deep,
Like a single drop of dew;
So deep the furrow, so silent the stream,
The good man saw naught but the dimmed eye beam.

Yet marvelled he much that the cheerful light
Of her eye had weary grown,
And marvelled he more at the tangled balls,
So he said in gentle tone:
"I've shared the joys since the marriage vow;
Conceal not from me thy sorrows now."

Then she spoke of the time when the basket there
Was filled of the very brim;
And now there remained of the goodly pile
But a single pair for him.
Then wonder not at the dimmed eye light,
There's but one pair of stockings to mend to-night."

"I cannot but think of the busy feet
Whose stockings were wont to lay
In the basket, awaiting needle's time,
Now wandered so far away.
How the upright step, tom's mother dear,
Unheeded fell on the stranger's ear.

"For each empty nook in the basket old,
On the hearth there's an empty seat;
And I miss the shadows from off the walls,
And the patter of many feet.
'Tis for this a tear gathers over my sight,
At the sight of one pair of stockings to mend to-night.

"'Twas said that far through the forest wild
And over the mountain bold,
Was a land whose rivers and darkling caves
Were crowned with the fairest gems;
Then my first-born turned from the oaken door,
And I knew the shadows were only four.

"Another went forth on the foaming wave,
And diminished the basket store,
But his feet grew cold, so weary and cold,
They will never be warm any more.
And this nook in its emptiness soometh to me,
To give back no voice but the moan of the sea.

"Two others have gone toward the setting sun,
And made them a home so its light;
And fairy fingers have taken their share
To mend by the fireside bright.
Some other baskets their garments fill,
But mind, O mind, is emptier still.

"Another, the dearest, the fairest, the best,
Was taken by the angels away,
And clad in a garment that waxeth not old
In a land of continual day.
O, wonder no more at the dimmed eyesight,
While I mend the one pair of stockings to-night."

AN ANCIENT DINNER.—The excavations at Pompeii are going on with an activity stimulated by the important discoveries made at almost every step, and the quantities of gold and silver found which more than suffice to cover the cost of the works. Near the Temple of Juno, of which an account was recently given, has been brought to light a House, belonging to some millionaire of the time, as the furniture is of ivory, bronze and marble. The couches of the triclinium, or dining room, are especially of extreme richness. The flooring consists of immense mosaics, well preserved in parts, of which the centre represents a table laid out for a grand dinner. In the middle on a large dish, may be seen a splendid peacock with its tail spread out, and placed back to back with another bird, also of beautiful plumage. Around them are arranged lobsters, one of which holds a blue egg in its claw, a second an oyster which appears to be fricasseed, as it is open and covered with herbs; a third, a rat farci, and a fourth, a small vase filled with fried grasshoppers. Next comes a circle of dishes of fish, interspersed with others of partridges, hares and quails, which all have their heads placed between their forefeet. Then comes a row of sausages of all forms, supported by one of eggs, oysters and olives. The walls of the triclinium are covered with fresco paintings of birds, fruits, flowers, game, and fish of all kinds, the whole interspersed with drawings which lend a charm to the whole not easy to describe. On a table of rare wood, carved and inlaid with gold, marble, agate and lapis lazuli, were found amphoræ still containing wine, and some goblets of onyx. [Shilling Magazine.

VELOCITY OF MECHANISM.—Fan blowers are frequently run with a velocity of 3,000 turns per minute, while the usual velocity of cotton spindles is between 6,000 and 7,000 turns per minute. These are the highest rotary velocities with which we are acquainted in ordinary mechanism, but M. Arago, in measuring the difference in the velocity of light while passing through air and through water, wished to give a revolving mirror a velocity of 9,000 rotations per second. This he was unable to do; with the most delicate and perfect arrangement of cog wheels he was able to impart only 1,000 revolutions per second to his mirror. M. Foucault, by substituting for cog wheels a delicate turbine acted on by a steam jet, raised the velocity to 1,500 turns per second. M. Arago by removing the mirror and turning the spindle alone, achieved a velocity even by cog wheels, of 8000 turns per second—equal to 480,000 turns per minute.

That spindle, therefore, turned 80 times while an ordinary cotton spindle is turning once! This is the highest rotary velocity of which we have any account.—[Scientific American.

McDONALD CLARK.—Everybody remembers McDonald Clark, who was so well known in New York a few years since as the 'mad poet.' Every one knew Clark by sight and one day, while quietly taking his dinner at the Astor House, two young sprigs of fashion seated themselves opposite, and commenced a conversation intended for the ears of Clark. One said:

'Well, I have been in New York two months and have seen all I wish to see, with one exception.'

'Ah,' said the other, 'what is that?'

'McDonald Clark, the great poet,' responded No. 1, with great emphasis.

Clark raised his eyes slowly from his plate, and, seeing the attention of the table was on him, stood up, placed his hand over his heart and bowing with great gravity to the young men, said:

I am McDonald, the great poet."

The young gents started in mock surprise, gazed at him in silence for a few moments, and then, amid an audible titter of the company, one of them drew from his pocket a quarter of a dollar, and laid it before Clark still looking at him without a smile. Clark raised the quarter in silence and dignity, placed it in his pocket, and drew thence a shilling, which he deposited before the young gent, with these words:

'Children half price!'

The titter changed to a roar, and the exquisites were missing instantly.

Old Parson M——, of Torringford, was a queer sort of a man. One time when his congregation had most of them disposed themselves for their afternoon nap, he startled them as well as the fiddles of proprietors by a[illegible] of butter-nuts. [illegible] Richards case, some strangers coming to church with him, the congregation paid more attention to them than they did to him. Losing all patience, he stopped in his sermon and said:

'Those folks in my pew are no cousins from H——, so you needn't stare at them any more!'

The custom of calling a man's story his [illegible] has been sufficiently discussed, and it is time to render it familiar. One day at the Philadelphia Navy Yard, a midshipman was telling [illegible] the sentinel that was doing duty at the [illegible] admit no one. During the day two officers came to the gate, intending to enter the yard, but the sentinel, barring the orders, cried out, 'Kar no pass, sarm.' 'But, sir,' replied the officer, 'I must see Captain W——'s lady.' 'Kar no pass, sarm.' 'But, sir, I must see her.' 'Kar no pass, sarm.' 'But, sir, you know me.' 'Kar no pass, sarm.—couldn't let you in if you was de debbil, sarm.'

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Augusta, June 6, 1866.

To Municipal Authorities:

A CONSTITUTION has been placed upon the blank applications for State Pension, to which is perhaps liable, though by no means intended, as will appear by the instructions accompanying the blanks, that every party applying shall declare him or herself a pauper. To correct this, in all cases in which persons applying are not receiving aid, either public or private, the third paragraph of the application signed by the proposed beneficiary, which declares the inability "in the second line, should be changed by striking out the words "am," "and," and "continue to," so that line will read "obtain a livelihood for myself and those dependent upon me, and shall be compelled to &c.

The object of this law is to relieve those who may be paupers, and prevent others from becoming so, and will be so administered.

EPHRAIM FLINT, Secretary of State.

CONSTITUTION

LIFE SYRUP.

A positive and specific remedy for all disease originating from an IMPURE STATE OF THE BLOOD, and for all (hereditary) DISEASES transmitted from PARENT TO CHILD.

L

SCROFULA,
STRUMA, GLANDULAR SWELLINGS,
ULCERATION, KING'S EVIL,
ERYSIPELAS, SALT RHEUM

This taint (HEREDITARY and ACQUIRED,) filling life with untold misery, is by all usual medical remedies incurable.

RHEUMATISM.

If there is any disease in which the Constitution Life Syrup is a sovereign, it is in rheumatism and its kindred affections. The most intense pains are almost instantly alleviated—enormous swellings are reduced. Cases, chronic or vicarious, of twenty or thirty years standing have been cured.

I

NERVOUSNESS.

Nervous Debility, Shattered Nerves,
St. Vitus' Dance, Loss of Power,
Confusion of Thoughts, Epilepsy.

Thousands who have suffered for years will bless the day on which they read these lines. Particularly to weak, suffering women will this medicine prove an inestimable blessing—directing their footsteps to a Hope which fulfills more than in promise

MERCURIAL DISEASES.

Salivation, Rotting of Bones,
Bad Complexion, Aches in Bones,
Feeling of Weakness, Depression of Spirits.

F

CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP purges the system entirely from all the evil effects of MERCURY, removing the Bad Breath, curing the Weak Joints and Rheumatic Pains which the use of Calomel is sure to produce. It hardens Spongy Gums and secures the Teeth as firmly as ever.

CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP

Eradicates, root and branch, all Eruptive Diseases of the Skin like

ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES,

and all other difficulties of this kind, which so much disfigure the outward appearance of both males and females, often making them a disgusting object to themselves and their friends.

E

CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP

CURES ALL SWELLING OF THE GLANDS,

Either of the Face, Neck, or Female Breast, and should be taken as soon as the swelling is detected, thus preventing their breaking, and producing troublesome Discharging Sores, which disfigure so many of the younger portion of the community, from birth to twenty years of age. Young children are very subject to Discharges from the Ears, which depend upon a Scrofulous constitution. These cases soon recover by taking a few doses of the Life Syrup.

S

A Scrofulous person suffering from general Debility, Emaciation, Dyspepsia and Dropsy of the limbs, abdomen, and in the female, Dropsy of the ovaries and womb, generally accompanied with inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, are permanently cured by Constitution Life Syrup. The disease known as Goitre or Swelled Neck, the Life Syrup will remove entirely. The remedy should be taken for some time, as the disease is exceedingly chronic and stubborn, and will not be removed without extra effort.

Tumors of the Ovaries, Tumors of the Breast, and swelling of other glands of the body, will be completely reduced without resorting to the knife, or operations of any kind.

V

Epileptic Fits, Sympathetic or Organic Disease of the Heart, as palpitation, Disease of the Valves, producing a grating or filing sound, Dropsy of the Heart Case and all the affections of this important organ (persons suffering from any acute pain in the region of the heart), will be greatly relieved by Constitution Life Syrup.

BROKEN DOWN AND DELICATE CONSTITUTIONS suffering from Indisposition to Exertion, Pain in the Back, Loss of Memory, Forebodings, Horror of Calamity, Fear of Disease, Dimness of Vision, Dry, Hot Skin and Extremities, Want of Sleep, Restlessness, Pale, Haggard Countenance, and Dissitude of the Muscular System, all require the aid of the CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP.

R

FOR ALL FORMS OF

Ulcerative Diseases,

Either of the Nose, Throat, Tongue, Spine, Forehead or Scalp, no remedy has ever proved its equal.

MOTH PATCHES upon the female face depending upon the diseased action of the liver, are very unpleasant to the young wife and mother. A few bottles of CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP will correct the secretion, and remove the deposit which is directly under the skin.

In the diseases of the Liver, giving rise to Lancour, Dizziness, Indigestion, Weak Stomach, or an ulcerated or cancerous condition of that organ, accompanied with burning or other unpleasant symptoms, will be relieved by the use of CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP.

U

AS A GENERAL BLOOD PURIFYING AGENT THE LIFE SYRUP STANDS UNRIVALLED BY ANY PREPARATION IN THE WORLD.

THE RICH AND POOR

are liable to the same diseases. Nature and science has made the CONSTITUTION LIFE SYRUP for the benefit of all.

PURE BLOOD

Produces healthy men and women; and if its constitution is neglected in youth, disease and early death is the result.

Notice to the Public!

In the year 1843, the writer embarked in the Drug business in the city of Philadelphia, and while thus engaged, made several experiments in regard to the most desirable mode of preparing Fluid Extracts.—My efforts being successful—the articles being approved and used by the Medical Faculty—I was encouraged by placing them before the public, but hesitated for some time before consenting to resort to newspaper advertising, knowing the prejudice that existed in the minds of many against using advertised Medicines or Nostrums, but through the advice of friends and the solicitations of physicians—but I am happy to state that out of the many who have resorted to this, none have been unsuccessful.

MY OBJECT

In this notice is to make facts known to the public and respectable dealers, believing, after so many years' experience, that the Druggists will discountenance such proceedings, and that the reputation of my articles may not be tampered by use of inferior or spurious ones.

Knowing that many may read this article who are unacquainted with me, I append a few remarks from those of my native city, and whose names are known in all parts of the world:

Being personally acquainted with Mr. H. E. Helmbold, it affords me pleasure in stating I have been most favorably impressed with his energy and integrity, and gratified at his success.

WM. WEIGHTMAN,
Firm of Powers & Weightman,
Ninth and Brown Streets, Philadelphia.

[Evening Bulletin, Philadelphia.]

"When on a visit to the city of New York a few days since, I was induced to call on our old friend and townsman, Mr. H. T. Helmbold, Druggist, 594 Broadway, New York. His store is a Model—a perfect Gem—the neatness of any kind we have ever had the pleasure of viewing, and so extensive, being 54 feet front, five stories in height, and over 200 feet deep. It indeed affords us much pleasure to know that he has been successful, and it is ample evidence of the merits of his articles—as in our whole business experience, we have not known of the success of any articles without Merit—advertising merely bringing the name before the people."

[Boston Herald.]

"We do not like to advertise worthless wares, or articles calculated to deceive our readers; and when we see an advertisement like Mr. Helmbold's, whom we have known for years, gradually extend his advertising from year to year until he becomes the largest advertiser in the United States, we are satisfied that the statements in regard to his articles must be correct."

The writer reluctantly inserts the above, and would not do so were he not a stranger to many, and concludes by stating the names of his articles, and the diseases for which they have been used by many thousands with complete success.

[ADVERTISEMENT.]

DR. KNIGHTS'

Oriental Hair Restorer.

After a long series of experiments, this article, as it is now offered to the public, is believed to be the most perfect of its kind which science has ever devised. No pains have been spared to produce what has so long been demanded by thousands, who, from sickness or other causes, have become prematurely grey; and others, who, in the sere and yellow leaf of life, would retain, as far as possible, the semblance of youth. Dr. Knights' Oriental Hair Restorer, after a few applications, restores grey or faded hair to its original color, and is the only preparation of the kind upon which the public can place any reliance. It has never been known to fail in a single instance, and is totally unlike the thousand and one so-called Hair Restorers, by which so many have been egregiously deceived.

It is delightfully perfumed, gives the hair a rich and glossy appearance, promotes its luxuriant growth, and will not soil the skin, scalp, or any article of apparel.
